

FLOW IN THE RIVER

Be a great white dove of light and love.
But also be a serpent among the serpents.
Do not feed the pigs pearls.

You live in a river,
The river of life,
You are the water that flows.
Do not be rocks or sticks in the water
For they break or get stuck when there is great pressure,
Flow in the river of life.

When your river opens up into a delta,
Make the right decisions,
Go in the direction that your heart says.
Do not go where everybody tells you to go.

When you are alone in your own river,
Transform yourself!
When you transform yourself,
Be a salmon.
Swim upstream, never downstream.
Fight and swim in the shadows of the waterfall,
As you swim up and up and up.
When you are at the top.
I will be there with you.

The greatest reward awaits you.
Don't despair.
Be patient and persistent
But don't despair.

8/28/2006 21:14:26 PM

Eso que Todo Es A Través de Alexander Backman